Personal Profile

I am a motivated Global Governance student specializing in Science and Technology at Tor Vergata University of Rome, with strong interests in cybersecurity, data science, and innovation. My academic path and hands-on experiences have shaped me into an adaptable, analytical, and impact-driven individual, eager to contribute to collaborative and mission-driven environments. I am particularly passionate about applying cybersecurity and data solutions to real-world challenges, enhancing resilience, and driving inclusive progress. Through an IBM internship, I aim to sharpen my technical expertise and further develop my leadership potential.

PROFESSIONAL WORK EXPERIENCE

Participant – IBM Cyber Academy (Cyber Crisis Simulation Workshop)

June 2025

IBM - Rome, Italy

- Selected to participate in an exclusive, immersive cybersecurity simulation hosted by IBM Cyber Academy in partnership with the Italian National Cybersecurity Agency (ACN).
- Engaged in “Un giorno di ordinaria follia,” a real-time role-play exercise simulating a complex cyberattack within a large organization. Played the role of executives managing crisis response, operational risk, communication, and reputation protection under high pressure.
- Explored cutting-edge topics including Quantum Computing, Cyber Threat Intelligence (CTI), Cyber Defense strategies, Cyberlaw, and advanced Simulation Software.
- Led by senior IBM Cyber Academy leadership, the session reinforced the critical balance between technical expertise, strategic decision-making, and collaborative leadership needed to defend today’s digital landscape.
- This hands-on experience deepened my passion and readiness to contribute meaningfully to cybersecurity, blending technology, policy, and human factors.
